EXPENDITURES

FOOD FOR THE POOR CANADA HAS AN ADMINISTRATIVE RATION OF LESS THAN 4%

PROGRAM EXPENDITURES COVER BUILDING SCHOOLS AND HOMES, AS WELL AS PURCHASING AND SHIPPING AID

Over the last four years YOU and Food For The Poor Canada have been able to help thousands of children and their families. Together we have saved lives with food and medical aid, given hope and security to families with strong, new homes, and changed the lives of countless children by investing in early childhood education.

Thanks to you, the work of Food For The Poor Jamaica and Food For The Poor Haiti, the largest charities in each country, have had an even greater impact in the communities that we serve.

Food For The Poor has committed to a combination of aid and development, that provides both the basic needs and the opportunities for hope and success.

WITH FOOD, MEDICAL AID AND HOUSING you save and improve lives by providing free medicine, nutrition and a place to live for the most vulnerable in these countries.

WITH THE GIFT OF A HOME you give a family safety, a sense of pride and an opportunity to look for work and to succeed at school.

WITH THE GIFT OF EDUCATION you give the children and their community access to better jobs, higher expectations and a greater standard of living that will lift the entire community over the long term.

WITH THE STRENGTH OF OUR ORGANIZATION, its infrastructure in Haiti and Jamaica and your support here in Canada, we have been able to transform communities.

HEALTH

FOOD & MEDICAL AID

In 2012 you sent medical and food donations of over $1.8 million dollars to people whose lives have been made better by your generosity.

The Canadian Dairy Commission worked with us to send milk powder to Haiti for the malnourished babies. They provided the milk powder at close to half the market price so that we could feed as many children as possible – an amazing contribution..

We worked with two ladies, Katherine and Glasine who, with their family and friends raised the money to send 75 donated hospital beds to Jamaica, where every hospital has a shortage of beds.

HOUSING

This year we built homes in response to those left homeless by the earthquake in Haiti and the hurricane in Jamaica

The gift of a house is immeasurable.

It provides a family with safety from violence and protection from the environment and extreme weather.

It gives an adult greater financial stability and the chance to feed and support their family without the stress of wondering where they will live and how they will pay for it. It also gives that adult the opportunity to look for work from a place that they can call their own.

It gives children the chance to go to school and do their homework more easily, and creates the opportunity for better employment in later years.

It gives them a sense of self-worth.

You give them hope with the gift of a home.

EDUCATION

CHANGES COMMUNITIES

Over the last year, the JAMAICA 50 PROJECT to:

- BUILD 50 NEW SCHOOLS
- TRAIN 500 TEACHERS
- EDUCATE 200,000 CHILDREN

has already changed the lives of over a thousand children in many communities across Jamaica.

By mid 2013 Food For The Poor Jamaica had completed 15 of the 50 schools with your help and the help of many special individuals and groups in Canada, the U.S. and Jamaica. You have supported the training of the first group of early childhood teachers, 43 are being trained as we speak.

You sent one thousand backpacks of educational supplies to Haiti, as well as outfitting a high school with musical instruments.

Through your investment in education, these individual children and their communities will become more successful and able to help themselves and others.

Glenor Joseph's is with two students, Trudyann and Jevon Wright. Along with their sister Tamara (with mother Kaneshia), this family will benefit from a better education because of the Joseph's family donation which built a new school in George's valley, Jamaica.
